AIMS.....to provide for the advancement of nature art within the state of Indiana
OF.....to encourage understanding of the needs of wildlife by the general public
IWA.....to afford nature artists at all levels an opportunity to meet, learn, and exhibit

There are three degrees of membership

ARTISTpracticing artist whose work shows a professional approach to wildlife art
APPRENTICE.....less experienced artist functioning with the professional group at the individual's own level
ASSOCIATE.....individuals who wish to encourage the appreciation and understanding of wildlife and to promote nature art as a true fine art

Family memberships and non-resident memberships are also available

We believe that, as nature artists, we are in a unique position to help others (young people and/or adults) to learn about wildlife and conservation. To this end, individual members and small groups look for opportunities to arrange exhibits or speaking engagements for such special purposes. We would be happy to hear from any organization or other group that feels we can assist in its activities.

We invite you to visit our web site to learn more about Indiana Wildlife Artists. If you are interested in membership in any category, please complete this form and return it to the address shown above. Members receive all IWA mailings including the newsletters and may participate in seminars, workshops and field trips offered by the organization. Regional chapters meet from time to time for various nature oriented activities, demonstrations, outings and social get-togethers.
